

Yorkshire NFM Community of Practitioners

Project to date and future look

*Dr Jenny Armstrong, Impact Translation Fellow, iCASP
& Jonathan Moxon, Flood Risk Manager, Leeds City Council*

8th June 2021

Aim: promote integrated catchment management by facilitating joint learning and the development of best practise for NFM across Yorkshire.

Delivery: providing a platform in the format of quarterly workshops for NFM practitioners across the region to come together to build expertise, facilitate partnerships, develop funding bids, increasing the installation rate of NFM across Yorkshire.

Progress to date

- 5 in person events
- 3 virtual events, 1 more this week (10 – 1pm, 10th June)
- 333 attendees over all events (41 average)

- RFCC Local Levy funding
- Steering group set up
- ToR review underway

- Shortlisted as semi finalist for Flood & Coast excellence awards – ‘community partnership’ category

The Future Looks Bright.....

- Strong appetite for collaboration and participation
- Future events moulded by practitioners
- A hub or Centre of Excellence for NFM in Yorkshire
- National recognition and respect
- The role of ICASP is central to future success...
